

CALL FOR PAPERS

SPECIAL ISSUE ON:

GLOBAL STRATEGY FOR SUSTAINABLE DEVELOPMENT: INNOVATION, MODELLING, AND ALLIANCES

International Journal of Humanities and Social Development Research (ISSN 2521-1439, E-ISSN 2523-4331) is a peer-reviewed interdisciplinary journal that fosters the dissemination of scholarly research work by teaching and research scholars across the world in the areas of development studies, social welfare, and social policy. The IJHSDR invites the articles for publication in a special issue on the subject "Global Strategy for Sustainable Development: Innovation, Modeling, and Alliances". This special issue will showcase various crucial themes of climate action and resilience in science. The papers in this special issue must investigate the politics that shaped COP29, the setting of the goals, and the selection of the measurement methods. This special issue will be published in November 2024.

Topics of interest to the special issue include, but are not limited to, the following:
